Winter Comes to Northwest With Driving Snow

SNOW FLURRIES IN U. S. NORTHWEST, WESTERN CANADA

THE SNOWFALL IN TWIN CITIES MELTS AS IT REACHES THE GROUND

TEMPERATURES BELOW FREEZING IN DAKOTA, MONTANA AND MINNESOTA

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—Winter came to the northwest today when a driving snow started falling at mid-morning.

Snow flurries were reported throughout the northwest and western Canada.

Reports to the U. S. weather bureau indicated that snow was falling throughout Saskatchewan today. The snowfall in the Twin Cities melted as it reached the ground. Brainerd reported that an inch of snow fell during the night and was melting today.

Temperatures below freezing were frequent throughout North and South Dakota, Montana and Minnesota.

Canada reported one of the wildest fall blizzards in many years sweeping over northern Alberta and Saskatchewan. Traffic in Edmonton and Prince Albert was blocked by huge drifts of snow.

Workers were delayed for hours getting home last night.

Five and a half inches of snow fell in 18 hours at Edmonton and the temperature dropped to 17 degrees above zero.

In Prince Albert scores of automobiles were temporarily abandoned by their owners when drifts heaped the street. A foot of snow fell in a few hours. In 12 hours yesterday 16 inches of snow fell. The storm continued to rage today.

The forecast for Minnesota for the next 24 hours was "partly cloudy, possibly snow in extreme northern portion tonight and Friday."

The temperature here dropped rapidly from 55 degrees at 3 A. M. to 31 degrees at 10 A. M. By noon the mercury had risen to 35 degrees, three degrees above freezing. Snow also ceased falling but a strong wind was blowing.

NEWSPAPER RECEIVES REPORT THAT BOB MAY RETURN TO NEW YORK

Washington, Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—The Washington Herald announced today it had received a telephone call from a man describing himself as the secretary of Charles V. Bob, missing financier, and asking the newspaper to state that Bob would return to New York during the next three days.

When Bob vanished a week ago his associate, Frederick Russell, disappeared at the same time, presumably with the capitalist. Russell is reported since to have telephoned his office from Chicago, disclaiming knowledge of Bob's whereabouts.

FIND BODY CRAMMED IN AN INCINERATOR

Los Angeles, Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—The body of John Harron, 70, father of Johnny Harron, motion picture player, was found today crammed in an incinerator and burned almost beyond recognition.

The discovery was made an hour after Harron left his home to go to open his service station on South Broadway. The incinerator was at the rear of the service station.

Police said the circumstances indicated that Harron either was murdered or was the victim of a weird accident.

MAY ATTEMPT TO OUST MacDONALD

London, Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—An attempt to oust Premier Ramsay MacDonald's labor government and the precipitation of a general election by the conservative party appeared to be the logical development in British politics today.

Former Premier Stanley Baldwin, conservative leader, has outlined the policy on which the conservatives "will ask to be returned to power" at the next general election. Baldwin's statement, contained in a letter to the chairman of the conservative party, Neville Chamberlain, made the conservative attitude definite.

TWO FATALLY HURT AS PLANE CRASHES

Olathe, Kan., Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—Dale Dawson, Napoleon, Ohio, pilot, and Ralph Yeager, Defiance, Ohio, his passenger, were injured fatally late Wednesday when their airplane crashed near here. Both died before reaching a Kansas City hospital, 20 miles away.

GOPHER COEDS TURN THUMBS DOWN ON 'TIME CLOCK' IDEA

Minneapolis, Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—University of Minnesota coeds turned thumbs down today on Dean Anne Dudley Blitt's "time clock" idea.

Miss Blitt, dean of women, had proposed that all coeds be required to "punch the clock" on going out and coming back from evening dates.

Sorority girls and coeds living in rooming houses that would be affected by the plan held indignation meetings and voted against the plan.

A meeting of house mothers was also called but only four favored the "time clock" and the idea was dropped.

The proposal suggested she record her going, with whom and the time of her departure and return whenever she "dated."

RAGING BLIZZARD DELAYS AIRPLANE DASH WITH TREATY

JAPANESE RATIFICATION OF THE LONDON NAVAL TREATY HELD UP BY WEATHER

FLIERS RAN INTO STORM IN WYOMING AND PAIR BECAME SEPARATED

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—Lt. William Caldwell, army aviator, was killed when his plane crashed near Lookout, Wyo., during a blizzard yesterday. The Cheyenne office of the Boeing Air Transport Company was informed today.

R. W. Meskimen, pilot of the company's westbound plane, reported to the office here that he sighted the wreckage to Lieut. Caldwell's craft, and circling low over the spot, saw the body still in it.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—Buckling winter mountain storms which may have caught his fellow pilot, Lt. Irvin A. Woodring, U. S. A., flew here from Cheyenne, Wyo., today in the race to rush a document of world peace across a continent and two seas.

He bore Japan's papers ratifying the London naval treaty. Woodring roared through snow and winter winds over the country once covered by the famous Pony Express and landed his plane here at 8:31 to get a cup of coffee, then sped away at 9:05 A. M. for Chicago.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 16.—A raging blizzard delayed today Lieut. Edwin A. Woodring's airplane dash across the continent with the Japanese ratification of the London naval treaty.

While Irving C. Woodring, an army flier, watched the lowering skies and hoped for sufficient visibility to resume his flight, increasing concern was felt for the safety of his companion, Lieut. William Caldwell who left Victorio, B. C., with him, bearing a duplicate copy of the ratification.

The fliers ran into the storm in Wyoming and 20 miles north of Laramie, Woodring lost sight of his companion.

At Laramie the storm was so intense it forced Woodring down. After reporting the disappearance of Caldwell and getting his bearings, he resumed the flight, narrowly avoiding crashing at the take-off, and landed at Cheyenne. He told airport attendants he would resume his flight today but refused to name his next stop.

BUTTERNUT WANTS DOCTOR

WISCONSIN WANTS HIM ESTABLISHED BEFORE WINTER SNOWS COME

Butternut, Wis., Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—Citizens of Butternut and the surrounding district broadcast today an appeal for a physician to settle here before winter snows block highways and prevent outside medical aid.

"We'll have a hard time this winter without medical care," said Edward J. Koran, president of the village board. "There are 1,300 residents in this district and a doctor could establish a fine practice."

"The community needs a young, strong physician, though. One who can shovel snow if his automobile gets stuck and who can stand temperatures of 30 degrees below zero."

During other winters, Butternut always has had a resident physician.

Democratic Party Goes Into Election With 81 Seats in House and 5 in Senate Assured

MANY DEMOCRATS ARE UNOPPOSED IN THE ELECTION

7 STATES IN SOUTH AND WEST HAVE NO OPPOSITION TO CONGRESSIONAL TICKETS

AS FAR AS CONGRESS IS CONCERNED, OLD PROHIBITION PARTY HAS DISAPPEARED

Following is the second of a series of stories dealing with the political situation surrounding the November election.

By MORRIS DE HAVEN TRACY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Oct. 16.—The democratic party will go into the November 4 election with 81 seats in the house of representatives and five in the senate assured because the democratic candidates for that number of seats are unopposed.

To win control of the next congress the democrats must elect 137 additional members of the house and must name 19 senators in addition to the five who will take their seats without opposition.

The task before the republican party if it is to retain control of the next congress, consists of electing 195 members of the house in addition to 23 who have no opposition and 13 senators in addition to the one republican senator from Maine, already elected. If the republicans can accomplish that they will have a majority in each house.

When set down in figures the task of the democrats with regard to the house of representatives seems the easier although it may not be. That is because a larger number of democrats are unopposed in the general election. Seven states—South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and Arizona, have no opposition to complete democratic congressional tickets. In Texas 10 democrats are without opposition for the house while Virginia, Florida and Kentucky send three each; Tennessee seven, and California one.

Only 23 republicans, on the other hand, take places in the house without opposition. California sends nine of the 23, Washington three, Wisconsin four and Massachusetts, Kentucky, Tennessee, Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan and Kansas one each.

There are 435 congressional seats to be filled. Four already have gone to the republicans in the state of Maine where the election was held a few weeks ago. One hundred four will be filled without contest, leaving 327 districts in which the major parties will contest for ascendancy in the house. In a few of these contested districts, independents or members of the minor parties are opposing democrats or republicans but in most instances the two major parties have the field to themselves.

BRITISH FREIGHTER COLLIDES WITH CUBAN VESSEL

Havana, Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—The British freighter Hallmoore collided with the Cuban vessel Antolin del Collado and sank it early today, six miles off Mariel, Cuba.

The Antolin del Collado's crew of 28 and two passengers were rescued by the Hallmoore, which proceeded immediately to Mariel, in the province of Pinar del Rio, the nearest port.

The sunken vessel was a fifty-year-old sidewheeler of the Empresa Naviera de Cuba fleet, of 977 tons, carrying a cargo valued at $80,000.

The S. O. S. sent by the Hallmoore was picked up by the immigration department radio station and port police were notified. Immediately the police set out in two motor boats to the scene of the disaster and arrived in time to help rescue the crew.

The Empresa Naviera ordered the Grunfand to proceed to the rescue at full speed, but the radio announced that the crew had been saved with only the loss of their personal belongings.

The Antolin left Havana at 8:15 last evening enroute to Minas de Matahambre. The Hallmoore was enroute to Mariel to pick up a cargo of sugar.

HOOVER CRIME COMMISSION IS TO MEET NOVEMBER 5

DAY AFTER VOTERS EXPRESS THEMSELVES ON PHASES OF PROHIBITION PROBLEM

COMMISSION NOW IN MIDST OF ONE OF ITS LONGEST SESSIONS

Washington, Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—Another meeting of the Hoover crime commission was tentatively scheduled today for November 5, the day after voters in half a dozen states have expressed themselves on various phases of the prohibition problem.

The commission now is in the midst of the longest of its sessions in an effort to prepare a prohibition report for the president by early December. Another meeting probably will be held tomorrow, although at least four of the 11 commissioners are absent.

Adjournment until after the elections is contemplated with the prospect of still another session late in November and one early in December when the prohibition report, if ready, would be submitted.

The extent to which election results will influence the commissioners is not clear. Chairman Wickersham has said the commission cares nothing for elections, but at the same time he admitted that popular opinion had to be considered in connection with enforcement of any law.

CHINESE BANDITS RAISE RANSOM DEMAND FOR NELSON

ORIGINALLY ASKED $50,000, BUT NOW THEY WANT $300,000

BERT NELSON OF U. S. LUTHERAN MISSION IS RESIDENT OF MINNEAPOLIS

Peiping, Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—The bandits holding Bert Nelson, of the United Lutheran Mission, prisoner in the province of Honan increased their demand for ransom to $300,000 today, the highest amount demanded in similar cases of kidnapping.

Nelson is a resident of Minneapolis, Minn. The bandits set a time limit of two weeks for the payment of the ransom. Their initial demand was $50,000.

It reliably was reported that Nelson's captors were genuine communists allied to the Fukien bands who recently decapitated two English women missionaries. A letter outlining the terms of Nelson's release was signed "the first red army."

Two American missionaries still are missing in the Fukien area. American officials are investigating their disappearance and negotiating with the bandits holding Nelson.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 16.—Bert Nelson, American missionary, held for ransom by Chinese bandits, has spent almost his entire life in China, executives of the Norwegian church said today.

He was born in Iowa but was taken to China by his father. His father, also a missionary, was killed by a stray bullet during the warfare in China in 1926.

Nelson was brought up in China and sent to Minnesota to complete his education. He attended Luther Seminary here and graduated from St. Olaf, Northfield.

He was sent to China as a missionary in 1917, returning on furloughs in 1924 and 1927.

"LEGS" DIAMOND CLINGS TO LIFE

NEW YORK GANGSTER, SHOT 4 TIMES, SHOWS SIGNS OF IMPROVEMENT

New York, Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—Hack "Legs" Diamond, racketeer, who was thought fatally wounded when assailants shot him four times Sunday morning, was clinging tenaciously to life today and even showing signs of improvement.

Diamond is showing the same physical stamina that pulled him through when he was shot in 1927, at the time "Little Augie" Orden was murdered. Physicians said today he still has a chance of recovery unless pneumonia sets in. During the night he was conscious and drank small quantities of milk. He is breathing chiefly with one lung.

Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney said he knew the names of three of the four men who visited Diamond at the Monticello hotel Friday night. Mulrooney believes two of these men were the ones who returned Sunday morning to Diamond's hotel room and shot him. The commissioner did not reveal the names of the men.

Reports were current that police were searching for Irving Wexler, alias Maxie Gordon, who is alleged to be a member of the group which rules the city's illicit liquor traffic—a group to which Diamond belonged.

The aviator said he would be in the air tonight bound for the Pacific coast, and thence to Brazil.

The lieutenant is the son of Mrs. Ida Finney Melin of Moorhead.

Finney's mother said he left this morning to "join an air squadron going to Brazil."

Friends of the flier were not inclined to give much credence to his story and suggested that he may have offered his services as an individual.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The war department said today the name of Lt. Leon Finney was not listed among its officers and an examination of the navy register revealed no officer by that name.

At the state department, it was said the United States had no plans to send troops to Brazil.

Nelson was brought up in China and sent to Minnesota to complete his education. He attended Luther Seminary here and graduated from St. Olaf, Northfield.

"LEGS" DIAMOND CLINGS TO LIFE

NEW YORK GANGSTER, SHOT 4 TIMES, SHOWS SIGNS OF IMPROVEMENT

New York, Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—Hack "Legs" Diamond, racketeer, who was thought fatally wounded when assailants shot him four times Sunday morning, was clinging tenaciously to life today and even showing signs of improvement.

Diamond is showing the same physical stamina that pulled him through when he was shot in 1927, at the time "Little Augie" Orden was murdered. Physicians said today he still has a chance of recovery unless pneumonia sets in. During the night he was conscious and drank small quantities of milk. He is breathing chiefly with one lung.

Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney said he knew the names of three of the four men who visited Diamond at the Monticello hotel Friday night. Mulrooney believes two of these men were the ones who returned Sunday morning to Diamond's hotel room and shot him. The commissioner did not reveal the names of the men.

Reports were current that police were searching for Irving Wexler, alias Maxie Gordon, who is alleged to be a member of the group which rules the city's illicit liquor traffic—a group to which Diamond belonged.

UNCONFIRMED STORY OF ARMY MAN CALLED FOR DUTY IN BRAZIL

Washington, Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—The American consul at Porto Alegre, capital of the Brazilian revolutionary state at Rio Grande do Sul, reported to the state department today that rebels have confiscated American automobiles, oil and other supplies. No details were given in the consul's dispatch. He promised to supply them later.

Moorhead, Minn., Oct. 16.—Lt. Leon Finney, who is a former army flier, today said he had received orders to report to Major Brownridge, commander of the west coast division, for duty in Brazil.

The story could not be confirmed here from any other source.

Finney said Major Brownridge had ordered him to report for duty in Minneapolis at 6 P. M. today ready to mobilize for duty in Brazil.

The aviator said he would be in the air tonight bound for the Pacific coast, and thence to Brazil.

The lieutenant is the son of Mrs. Ida Finney Melin of Moorhead.

Finney's mother said he left this morning to "join an air squadron going to Brazil."

Friends of the flier were not inclined to give much credence to his story and suggested that he may have offered his services as an individual.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The war department said today the name of Lt. Leon Finney was not listed among its officers and an examination of the navy register revealed no officer by that name.

At the state department, it was said the United States had no plans to send troops to Brazil.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 16.—Major Ray Miller, commander of the 19th army air squadron stationed at the St. Paul airport, today was out of town but his associates said they know nothing about orders to go to the Pacific coast for mobilization for South American duty.

Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil, Oct. 16.—Revolutionary headquarters announced today that all of the southern part of the state of Bahia has fallen into the hands of the insurgent forces.

The capital of Bahia, lying north of the state, had resisted insurgent advances from Pernambuco on the north and from Minas Geraes state in the central region. Capture of the entire state would consolidate revolutionary territory in the north.

Rebels also announced that the Gaucha troops had again prevented the landing of government forces at Imbituba, Santa Catharina state.

DELEGATES REPORT ON W. C. T. U. MEET

Mrs. Grondin and Mrs. Lee Wolhart Tell of Convention at Winona

INTENSIVE WORK WAS DONE

Law Observance, Law Enforcement, Essay Work to be Stressed This Year

(Contributed)
The Women's Christian Temperance Union held their October meeting at the home of Mrs. Albert Ericson, Mrs. Geo. Wolhart, Mrs. A. E. Gustafson and Miss Dye hostesses. Halloween decorations were used. A short program followed the business meeting, also a "swap sale," which was interesting. Fruit juices and cookies were served for lunch.

The main feature of the evening was the report of Mrs. Grondin and Mrs. Lee Wolhart, delegates to the state convention held in September at Winona. They enjoyed a fine trip, wonderful hospitality and warm fellowship. The convention was a strenuous one, so much to be accomplished in the few days. The departmental reports show that all branches are working very satisfactorily. "Law Observance," "Law Enforcement" and the "Essay Work" were to be stressed this year especially.

Their slogan is "Eternal Vigilance is the Price of Prohibition" and "Prohibition is the Best Way to Deal With the Liquor Traffic." The organization warned the American home to stand firmly behind all American law, pleads with women not to smoke either in public or private, desires a strict observance of noon-tide prayer by friends and members, and many prayers for the coming national convention at Houston, Texas.

The state officers urged all citizens to vote November 4, not for candidates upholding referendum, but for those who will strive to entirely banish the curse of drink from our country and thereby help other countries to do the same.

Mrs. Ella Boole, national president, said "prohibition is like a ten year old boy, who must grow, be worked for, be fed and educated."

Mrs. Sizer, our beloved state president asks, "If the great manufacturers of today were to go back to the spinning wheels and hand looms, could they produce more fabrics by this method than the present one? Then how can the bootleggers under present conditions produce more than the big distilleries and breweries did?" Andrew Volstead says the bootleggers are not making the amount of money the vets give them credit for and there is less drinking than formerly, good progress being made in enforcement. The prohibition officers have been sorted and educated to their jobs and can be trusted to do their work. The N. E. A. resolved to stand firmly behind the eighteenth amendment and recommended that schools teach habits to conform with this. All state officers of the W. C. T. U. were re-elected. The convention resolved that all American citizens should hold fast to the church, home, school and our constitution. All laws must be obeyed and corrupt officials ousted.

Brainerd's Skating Rink

In spite of agitation and resolutions and deep resolves, a Brainerd ice skating rink has not been made a part of our municipal activities, but it always becomes the duty of a group of winter sport enthusiasts to shoulder the burden of financing such recreation.

One year a long time ago the Chamber of Commerce made winter sports a matter of exploitation. There were good rinks, hockey teams from the Twin Cities, toboggan clubs, skiers, etc. There was recruited a large marching club, men of the railway shops outfitting themselves with regulation suits and caps, and the corps with band and Tommy Wood at the head marched in the big parade at St. Paul.

Winter sports are the backbone and life of the Lake Placid region and of various winter resorts in Europe like St. Moritz and others. Given continued publicity and agitation, our Brainerd Lake Region can be made the scene of winter sports which will bring many persons here.

Locally we should have a program of winter sports, well supervised and maintained. In some way or another it should be made part of a regular municipal program carefully worked out and with a general response of the citizens to support it. It is almost asking too much to have the whole community depend on a small group of public spirited citizens to pick up the threads each season and go through the routine of selecting a site, raising money for the project, hiring caretakers, attending to snow removal, policing the rink, stirring up enthusiasm in various winter sports and then at the close, working hard to cover deficits which often pile up in spite of the best regulated program.

Healthful recreation keeps old and young in good shape, shortens the winter period and inures one to the cold. It lets the world at large know that Brainerd is not an ice-locked community like Nome, Alaska, and that our weather compares favorably with New England and other sections. The odd part of it is that the Brainerd area is often running around without an overcoat, basking in sunshine, while Chicago is digging itself out of a three-foot snowfall.

The Eastern seaboard when battling a storm has an idea that the whole country is similarly afflicted, when in fact the middle west may be fair weather.

Give the rink committee all the support you can. If money is short and you have time, volunteer your services in some way. Everyone can help.

The District Judgeship

A. L. THWING, of Grand Rapids, is opposing our fellow-townsmen, M. E. Ryan, for election as District Judge. The district includes Aitkin, Crow Wing, Itasca, Beltrami, Hubbard, Cass, Clearwater and Koochiching counties. Judge Wright, of Park Rapids and Hubbard county, and Judge Torrence, of Bemidji in Beltrami county, and Judge Ryan, of Brainerd in Crow Wing county, constitute the present tribunal in this judicial district.

Mr. Thwing has advanced as an argument that one judge has resided in Brainerd ever since the district was established and that it was fair and proper that Brainerd new relinquish this judgeship and bestow it upon Mr. Thwing of Grand Rapids.

In the first place, we ask anybody who has had experience in court practices or in any other legal procedures to offer a statement to the effect that Judge Ryan is not as competent, is not as well endowed with any abilities that Mr. Thwing claims for himself. We venture to say that Judge Ryan does not take a rear seat.

In the second place, Crow Wing county very much needs a resident judge. It always has needed and it always will need one. We cannot believe that a voter in this county will vote for a competing candidate living in a distant village and thereby vote himself a greater expense and vote it for all his fellow-citizens. If Mr. Thwing says Grand Rapids needs a resident judge, the same argument holds for Crow Wing county. Every vote in Crow Wing county cast for Mr. Thwing will, if he is successful, result in an extra expense for a resident in Crow Wing county. Even the lawyers see sufficient advantages in the present distribution of judges in this district not to favor a change. Every citizen in Crow Wing county owes it to himself and to his neighbors to continue the present judge, M. E. Ryan, in office at Brainerd. We do not criticize Mr. Thwing for wanting to become a district judge, but our interests are served best by retaining the man now in office rather than change for one living in Itasca county. There is no sound argument against that.

Unemployment Report

THE state highway department is the chief factor in absorbing surplus unskilled labor in Minnesota, the U. S. department of labor has reported. Though there continues to be a surplus of skilled workers in many lines, conditions are only slightly below normal, the department estimated.

In Minneapolis sharp increases in employment in the flour milling industry were noted. In St. Paul conditions were unchanged. All industries were reported operating at Winona but no plants were working overtime. Duluth conditions were practically unchanged with considerable unemployment noted.

North Dakota employment conditions were satisfactory, but there was some surplus unskilled labor. Building projects underway were sufficient to give employment to all resident building trades men. Conditions in the Fargo district were reported as generally satisfactory. Increased employment in sugar plants at Grand Forks is expected during October.

South Dakota conditions were reported as steadier than in recent months, particularly in the Black Hills district. Labor conditions at Sioux Falls were improved and normal labor demands were noted at Huron.

Pleads for Attendance

COACH "BILL" DAMMANN, speaking at the Rotary, made a plea for larger attendance at high school football games. Down at Albert Lea, where he was a coach, they rolled up attendances of 3,000 and 4,000. Armistice Day with the game with Austin, scored 6,000 attendance.

What is needed in Brainerd is more interest and more attendance at football. It is a major sport and worthy of support and all possible encouragement. The boys play better when backed up by a good crowd.

McClennahan Explains

October 14, 1930.
Editor, Brainerd Daily Dispatch,
Brainerd, Minnesota.

Dear Sir:
During the 30 years of my judgeship I have received many assurances of friendship throughout the various counties of the district. I am deeply appreciative of this, and because of it feel justified in making this statement.

From time to time there have come to my notice rumors that my application for retirement, made in January last, was designed to bring about the developments that followed. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

Early in January I communicated to Mr. M. E. Ryan my determination not to be a candidate to succeed myself. I did so because I deemed that, as president of the Crow Wing county bar association, was in the best position to make my plans known to the members of the bar. I regret that this course was not pursued. I distinctly had no desire to have any part in giving an advantage or disadvantage to any lawyer who might aspire to the position.

Following my communication to him Mr. Ryan visited me and strongly urged my applying for retirement, and

I acted on his advice. The prompt action of the governor in appointing my successor for the remainder of my term was as little expected by me as it was by the other lawyers and people of the district.

I wish to say, further, that I have known both of the candidates for this office many years, and have had occasion to observe their conduct in the practice of their profession and I state without hesitation that I consider Mr. Thwing the better choice. He is a lawyer of parts, not limited to any specialized character of professional work. In my judgment he is possessed of superior qualifications, whether we consider judicial temperament or otherwise. The question of residence is of minor importance, even from the point of view of the voters of Crow Wing county. Of course, fundamentally, the qualifications of the respective candidates should carry the first appeal.

I make this statement without having had any understanding with Mr. Thwing. It is the privilege of every citizen to openly express his preference, and the circumstances of this contest seem to make it especially fitting that I should do so. My being out of active practice, and therefore free from the embarrassments confronting the other lawyers is one of those circumstances.

To sum the matter up, I shall vote for Thwing for judge, and every other voter will be likewise actuated. Very respectfully yours,
W. S. McCLENNAHAN.

3 BANDITS RAID BRANCH BANK AT TRASCONA

BANK OF TORONTO BRANCH LOCATED IN TOWN 10 MILES FROM WINNIPEG

TRIO ESCAPES WITH $10,000; SECOND LARGE HOLDUP WITHIN TWELVE HOURS

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Three masked bandits raided the Bank of Toronto branch at Trascona, 10 miles from here, today and escaped with more than $10,000.

It was the second large holdup within 12 hours. Last night two men locked employees of the Canada Malt Co. here in the vault and escaped with a $2,400 payroll.

Three bank officials and four customers including a woman were locked in the Trascona bank vault by the bandits who made their getaway in an automobile.

Only meager descriptions of both bandit groups were obtained and police said that they had only a few clues to work on.

"The SEA BRIDE" By BEN AMES WILLIAMS

CHAPTER XLVI.
"BRANDER!" Faith cried in a passion. "Brander?" The thief that's lying now in the iron I put upon him? Him? Him you say I love?"

The very force of her anger should have told Dan's truth; but he was so blind that it served only to rejoice him.

"I knew it," he cried. "I knew it! So you love me, Faith."

"Must a woman always be loving?" she demanded wearily.

"Aye, Faith. It's the nature of them always to be loving—some one. With you, Faith, it's me. Listen and see!"

"Dan!" she said steadily, "what's the end of all this? What's the end of it all? What would you have me do?"

"Love me," he told her. "What else?"

"See the truth," he said. "Understand that the Sally is lost—fast aground here to rot her bones away. See that it's hopeless and wild to stick to her. We'll get out the boats. You and I and Roy and a man or two will take one; the others may have the other craft. It's not fifty miles to—"

"Leave the Sally?" she demanded.

"Yes."

"I'll not talk with you, Dan! I'll never do that!"

"There's the ambergris," he reminded her. "We'll take that. It will recompense old Jonathan for his Sally and her oil."

"No!"

Her word was so sharp that it checked him. He was up on his feet, bending above her, pouring out his pleadings; but she threw him into silence with that last word. The red flush of passion in his face blackened to something with the heat in him. He bent a little nearer, while her eyes met his steadily; and his hands dropped and gripped her arms above the elbows. She came to her feet, facing him.

"If you'll not go because you will, you'll go because you must," he told her huskily and harshly. "You'll whine at my feet after I'm through with you. You'll beg me to marry you in the end!"

If she had been able to hold still, to hold his eyes with hers, she might have mastered him even then; for in any match of courage against courage, she was stronger. But the horror of him overwhelmed her; she tried to wrench away. Her struggle fired him. In a battle of strength and strength she had no chance. He swung her against his chest, and she flung her head back that her lips might escape him. He laughed. His lips were dry and twitching as she fought to be away from him. He held her for an instant, held her striving body against his own to reveal in its struggles.

He had her thus in his arms, forcing her back, crushing her, when the door flung open and Roy Kileup stood there. The boy cried in desperate warning:

"Dan! Brander is—"

Then he comprehended that which he saw. He screamed with the fury of an animal, and flung himself at Dan, tearing at the men with the strength of a boy.

Dan had laid his plans well; he had felt sure of success; but he had not counted on trouble with Faith. He thought, after their failure to float the Sally, she would be crushed and ready to fall into his arms; ready at least to yield to his advice and come away and leave the ship where it lay.

After that Dan counted on separating the crew by losing the other boats. The ambergris would be in his; he would master the men with him. Faith and the treasure would be his.

Brander was to stay in the Sally, ironed in the after 'tween-decks. Dan thought Brander was destroyed by the evidence of his thieving; he no longer feared the man.

Not all the crew would go with him when he left the ship. Old Tichel had refused.

"I've waited all my days to be cap'n of a craft," Tichel declared. "With you gone, I'm master o' the"

Sally. I'll stay and get the feeling of it."

And Dan was willing to let him stay. Willis Cox agreed to do as Faith decided. Long Jim, the harpooner, was loyal to Tichel. Loum, Dan did not trust. The man might stay with Brander if he chose.

But Dan had on his side Kellick, the steward; and Yella Boy, and Silva, and four seamen from forward, and seven of those who had shipped as green hands. Silva hated Brander no less than Dan; for Brander had taken the mate's berth that Silva had hoped to get. Silva was Dan's right-hand man in his plans. And Roy, Dan thought, was his own to do with as he chose.

Mauger got some whisperings of all this, of course, in the fore'sle. There was no effort to keep it secret from him; no effort to keep the matter secret at all. Dan had said openly that if the Sally did not float he was for deserting her; those might come with him who chose. Save Mauger, there were none openly against him. Tichel would stay. Willis waited on Faith's word, but the rest held off and swung neither way nor another.

All of which Mauger, with infinite stealth, told Brander, sneaking down into the after 'tween-decks at peril of his skin, night after night. Brander, fast-ironed there, and taking his calamities very philosophically, praised the little man.

"Keep your eyes open," he said. "Bring me any word you get. Warn me in full time. And—find me a good, keen file."

Mauger fetched the file, pilfering it from the tool chest of Eph Hitch, the cooper. Brander worked patiently at his bonds, submitting without protest to his captivity.

That night of the full moon, after they had failed to float the Sally, Dan called Silva and bade him prepare the boats.

"Get food and water into them," he said. "Take plenty. Make them ready. Tell the rest of the men to lower if they've a mind. I'm for leaving."

Silva grinned his understanding. He asked a question.

"I'm going down now to convince her," Dan said. "She'll come, no fear."

He went below and left Silva to prepare the boats. Old Tichel was on deck, but Willis had gone below. Tichel did not molest Silva. Discipline had evaporated on the Sally; it was every man for himself. Those who were for leaving ship were hotly impatient; and one boatful of men lowered and drew slowly away toward the mouth of the cove where the Sally lay.

There was no wind; the sea was glassy and their oars stirred the water into sparkling showers like jewels. Kellick, Yella Boy, and four seamen were in that boat. Five of the green hands and Tinch, the cook, caught the infection, dumped food and water into another craft, and followed.

Silva got his boat overside. He had with him two men—men of his choosing, who had signed as green hands, but who were stalwarts now. He made sure the boat was ready, then stood in her, holding with one hand to the rail, and waiting for Dan to come with Faith. Roy, who would also go in this boat, was on the after deck.

The men in the two craft that had already left the ship were lying on their oars half a mile away, watching the Sally. In all their minds was the thought of the ambergris. They had no notion of leaving that behind; and they did not mean to be tricked out of their share in it. Silva could see the boats idly drifting.

Mauger slipped down to Brander and told him what was afoot.

"Two boats gone already," he said. "Silva waiting for Mr. Tobey now."

"Where's she?" Brander asked. "In the cabin. Mr. Tobey went to her. He've not come up yet."

Brander considered.

"Fetch a handspike," he said. "It's time I took a hand."

When Mauger had crawled on deck and returned with what Brander wanted, he pried open the filed iron, stood up, and shook himself to ease the ache of his muscles.

"Now," he said, "let's go see!"

He reached the deck, Mauger at his heels, and started aft. Silva, head above the rail, marked Brander's movements, and signed his two men to follow, and swung up aboard the Sally. Roy saw Brander and leaped down to the cabin to warn Dan. Brander followed him. Mauger, at Brander's back, heard Silva's rushing feet and turned to meet his charge.

Brander was at the foot of the companion-ladder when Roy threw open the after cabin door; he saw, as Roy saw, Dan's gripping Faith so brutally. He heard Roy's cry; then Roy leaped to grapple Dan.

Roy's eyes were opened in that moment; he had become a man. Dan had told him they would leave the ship, had told him nothing more. The boy had been full of anger against his sister, and Dan's counted on this, and feared no trouble from him. He forgot that the anger of a boy is not overstrong. It was swept away now in a lightning flash of understanding. When Roy saw Faith in Dan's arms, helplessly fighting against his kisses, he leaped to protect her as if there had never been harsh words between them.

The boy gripped Dan from behind. For an instant more Dan clung to Faith. His encircling arm tightened about her, so that she thought her ribs would crack. When he flung her away she was breathless and sick with nausea, and she fell on the floor and lay there, gasping for breath. Dan flung her away and swung on Roy.

"You young fool!" he swore. "I'll kill you!"

Roy was helpless before him. Dan held him by the throat, his fingers sinking home. Roy beat and tore at the man for a space; then his face blackened and his eyes bulged, and Dan flung him away.

Brander might have helped him but for the fact that three men dropped on him from the companion-hatch and bore him, smothering, to the deck. The three were Silva and his allies. Silva had a knife, and Mauger had felt it on the deck above. The one-eyed man lay there now, twisting and clutching at a gasp in his side.

Silva was first down on Brander; and he struck at Brander's neck as he leaped. But Brander had time to dodge to one side, so that Silva hit him on the hip and bore him down. Then the other two were upon them.

This sudden tumult in the cabin rang through the Sally. The night was still; the noise could be heard even by the boats that drifted half a mile away. Its abrupt outbreak unsettling; it jangled taut nerves. Long Jim, Loum, Eph Hitch, and the two remaining seamen lost courage, raced for a boat, dropped it to the water, and pulled off to see what was to come. Tichel, who was on deck, ran to try to stop them; but Loum struck out at him blindly, and threw the old mate off his balance for an instant that was long enough to let them get away.

The desertion of these last men left on the Sally only the four officers, Roy, Mauger, Silva and Silva's two men. Faith was still helpless, so was Roy. Mauger had dragged himself upright against the bulwarks and stripped off his shirt to investigate his wound. It was bleeding profusely, but he found that he could breathe without difficulty, and told himself shrewdly that he would come out all right.

Of men able to fight aboard the Sally, there were left Dan, Silva, and the two seamen on one side, against Brander, Tichel and Cox. The attitude of Tichel and Cox was in some sort uncertain; but the problem was quickly settled.

Dan, dropping Faith and flinging Roy aside, had charged into the main cabin to finish Brander; but Brander was so inextricably involved in his struggle with his three antagonists that Dan got no immediate chance at him. He was shifting around the twisting tangle of men, watching, when Willis came out of his cabin in a single leap.

KNUTSON DWELLS ON TARIFF IN TALK

Presents Arguments to Show Benefits of Hawley-Smoot Tariff Bill

ADDRESSES RANGE VOTERS

Big Interests Inspired to Oppose Bill by Desire to Manufacture Abroad

Congressman Harold Knutson spoke to a large audience in the Crosby armory last night and in his address dwelt on the effectiveness of the tariff.

He said in part:

"Since January, 1929, the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill has been more or less in the public eye. This is the third tariff bill that I have voted for during my tenure in Congress, and all of them have been similarly attacked on the ground that higher rates would increase cost of living and bring reprisals from foreign countries, neither of which prophecies materialized, but none of the other measures have excited quite the opposition that this one did, and in looking into it we find that the opposition has been inspired by big American industrialists who have moved their plants to Europe where they have cheaper labor and longer hours. Already Mr. Ford has moved his tractor plant to Europe throwing thousands of American laboring men out of work. Other big concerns like the International Harvester Company, General Electric and the big packing plants, have transferred much of their manufacturing activities to foreign countries for the same reason that Mr. Ford did, and that has been one of the major contributing factors to our unemployment. These big interests were inspired in their opposition to the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill by their desire to manufacture abroad where they have cheaper labor, longer hours, and lower raw material, but at the same time they want to ship their products to this country to be sold in competition with similar products made here. This, of course, they cannot do if the industrial rates of our tariff bill are sufficiently high and it was for the purpose of keeping the industrial rates down that they put out their vicious propaganda against the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill.

"In the industrial east people have been told that the agricultural rates are too high, while out here we were told that the industrial rates were far beyond what they should be. As a matter of fact, the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill comes as near doing justice to every part of the country and to every interest, as it is humanly possible to do. Of course, I do not mean to say that it is a perfect bill, but under the flexible provision of the act the president has the power to raise or lower up to 50 per cent, any existing rate, and I am sure that he will use that power to adjust any inequitable rates that may now exist. We in Minnesota have heard the bill denounced by the metropolitan press, by farm leaders and others. Let us see what justification there is for the charge that it is unfair to agriculture. The American Farm Bureau Federation, after an exhaustive study of the Hawley-Smoot tariff act finds that it is good for agriculture. Refusing to be lured into the roll of cat's paw for renegade American industrialists and self seeking politicians, the Washington office of this largest and most important of agricultural organizations has informed its members that the new act does accord to the farmer that tariff parity with industry which the republican party and a republican president had promised. In an analysis of the bill, the Farm Bureau Federation finds that the new bill increased agricultural rates from an average level of 23.37 per cent to a new level of 32.94 per cent, or an increase of 10.57 per cent, while the industrial rates are raised from an average of 37.35 per cent to 42.83 per cent, or an increase of 5.48 per cent. In the consideration of the tariff it will be well to remember that such agricultural products as butter, cheese and casein are classified as industrial because they are manufactured or processed. If these items were included in the agricultural schedule, where they rightfully belong, in analyzing the bill, the relative increase for agriculture would have been much greater."

As an example of the effectiveness of the tariff Congressman Knutson cited the case of butter with an average score of 92.

He said that butter on the New York market sold for an average of 39.62 cents in September while Danish butter was produced to sell for 29.97 in the Copenhagen market. He pointed out however that with a 14 cent tariff on butter the difference would be in favor of New York by 9.65 cents. He also mentioned numerous other products.

ACTING CHICAGO

POLICE HEAD IS UNDER CRITICISM

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Acting Police Commissioner John Alcock was under the fire of Judge John H. Lyle today for his methods of inquiry into the recent robbery of Mrs. William Hale Thompson, and the shelving of Captain John Etege, former chief of detectives.

Judge Lyle made his criticism from the bench as he disposed of the case of Sam Battaglia, hoodlum, charged with participation in the robbery of the mayor's wife. Battaglia was held to the grand jury in $60,000 bonds by the judge, who remarked to the prisoner, "If it were not for your past record, I would discharge you on this complaint."

The complaint against Battaglia was signed by Policeman Peter O'Malley, chauffeur for Mrs. Thompson, who lost his pistol and star when his employer was robbed.

Pointing out that Mrs. Thompson had not filed a complaint against Battaglia, Judge Lyle said:

"The suspicious identification of Battaglia might indicate that the chief of police had something to do with O'Malley's attitude. I should think that the chief would want to be here to exonerate himself from suspicion in this matter. The identification apparently was made in executive session."

DARING EXPLORATIONS

IN BRAZIL JUNGLES

Gayaz, Goyaz Province, Brazil, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Miss Elizabeth Steen, graduate of the University of California, arrived today from the jungles west of Araguaya river region where she has been on a daring exploration trip among the Indian tribes of the interior. The civil war probably will delay Miss Steen on her return trip.

Miss Steen was accompanied by an Indian guide and a negro maid. She went into the interior wilds several months ago, having arrived here from New York last spring. The purpose of her trip was scientific research, and most of her time was spent among the Chayantas and Jehovas tribes. She also sought a tribe of natives which no white person is ever supposed to have seen, although Col. P. H. Fawcett, the lost British explorer, often expressed confidence the strange tribe existed.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM

COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

MYSTERY ABOUT WHETHER BACKUS FUNDS ARE USED

FLOYD B. OLSON DENIES THAT BACKUS IS IN HIS CAMP

SENATOR SCHALL AND ELINOR HOIDALE DISCLAIM BACKUS CONTRIBUTIONS

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Just what funds from the fortune of E. W. Backus, Minneapolis multimillionaire lumberman, had found their way into the present election contest was somewhat of a mystery today.

Floyd B. Olson, farmer-labor candidate for governor, denied that Backus was "in his camp." Olson questioned whether Backus money had not been given to his republican opponent, Ray P. Chase, who Tuesday night accused Olson of receiving contributions from Backus.

Both Senator Thomas D. Schall, who is seeking re-election as the republican candidate, and Elinor Hoidale, his democratic opponent, disclaimed Backus contributions last night and accused the other of receiving the money.

Olson quoted Backus as saying, "I have been contributing to the republican party for 40 years and I have quite an investment." The farmer-labor candidate challenged, "Will Mr. Chase, who is now the chief bookkeeper of the state government and who reveals in reciting figures, please inform the voters of Minnesota what dividends Mr. Backus has realized from his investment in the form of contributions to the campaign fund of the little group of which Mr. Chase has been and is a member?"

Legislative consent to building any dams is one of the planks of his platform, Olson said. Olson said Backus "cannot and is not in my camp" because Backus' best interests would not be favored by his election as governor.

Replying to Chase's challenge as to what he would do in "cleaning-up the capital" if elected, Olson said, "The faithful public employee who is concerned only with the efficiency of his department and not with the political football, and his work and service should be rewarded by his continuation in office."

"No public servant who comes up to the standard set by me has anything to fear from my election," Olson said after praising the work of Charles Babcock, state highway commissioner, and Earle Brown, head of the state highway patrol.

Chase, speaking at Worthington, Minn., last night as part of his campaign tour of the state, said that Backus had transferred his support to the farmer-labor party this year in the gubernatorial race.

The republican gubernatorial nominee pointed out that during the past three years he had prevented power developments in the northern part of the state so that proper protective legislation might be enacted before the state rights in the matter were given away to private development.

Chase will be unable to speak before the state convention of the League of Women Voters now in session at Fairbault. Olson, however, will address the delegates, and Stafford King, republican candidate for state auditor, will represent his party.

Schall and Hoidale appeared on the same platform last night at the Macalester college chapel.

The present senator said that Backus would "always back anyone who he thinks may beat me."

Hoidale replied that Schall had charged Backus supported all his previous opponents and "now he has tried to move him in behind me."

PROWLER LOOTS

OFFICE OF THE COUNTY TREASURER

Ellsworth, Wis., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Under the eyes of a half a dozen county employees, a prowler looted the county treasurer's office at noon today of $500 and an undetermined amount of checks.

While S. W. Kendall, county treasurer, was out to lunch and his secretary, Miss Mabel Christianson, was in an adjoining office the prowler entered the treasurer's office and ransacked the cash register and desk drawers.

Six persons late today said they saw the man. Miss Christianson said they thought it the janitor and paid no attention.

County authorities were investigating the robbery late today with a complete description of the man who was said to be tall, dark and dressed in dark clothes.

The money and checks taken were mainly receipts from hunting licenses issued this week.

NO CONNECTION

BETWEEN ASSAULT

AND WITNESS SERVICE

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 16.—(UP)—James N. Cox, telephone company president, convinced police today there was no connection between an assault on him with a knife in a hotel here last night, and his scheduled appearance as a witness at the senate campaign funds investigating committee hearing.

Cox, from a hospital bed, where he is suffering with a knife slash in the throat, said he was stabbed by Sam Leake, a personal friend and employee after a drinking party in his hotel room. Leake was sought by police.

According to Cox, Leake was boisterous during a gathering of political friends of the phone company head and "my friends finally left the room while I was trying to quiet Leake. The result is that I am in the hospital with a slight cut on my throat."

COUNTY ATTORNEY AT ONE TIME WAS EATON'S DEFENSE ATTORNEY

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Anoka county officials today were trying to find an attorney willing to prosecute Clarence B. Eaton on a charge of robbing the Anoka National Bank.

Eaton, now serving a term at the Minnesota penitentiary at Bayport on a charge of entering the bank with firearms for the purpose of holding it up, has obtained an order for an immediate trial on the robbery charge.

L. A. Cutter, Anoka county attorney, said today that he couldn't prosecute Eaton.

"I was defense attorney for Eaton at his first trial," Cutter said. "It is impossible for me to try to convict a man who I fought for as innocent before."

Henry N. Benson, attorney general, also refused to prosecute. He said he sat on the pardon board as a judge and that he and his assistants could not prosecute in the case.

Benson suggested that a special prosecutor be named by the court.

KNUTSON DWELLS ON TARIFF IN TALK

Presents Arguments to Show Benefits of Hawley-Smoot Tariff Bill

ADDRESSES RANGE VOTERS
Big Interests Inspired to Oppose Bill by Desire to Manufacture Abroad

Congressman Harold Knutson spoke to a large audience in the Crosby armory last night and in his address dwelt on the effectiveness of the tariff.

He said in part:
"Since January, 1929, the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill has been more or less in the public eye. This is the third tariff bill that I have voted for during my tenure in Congress, and all of them have been similarly attacked on the ground that higher rates would increase cost of living and bring reprisals from foreign countries, neither of which prophecies materialized, but none of the other measures have excited quite the opposition that this one did, and in looking into it we find that the opposition has been inspired by big American industrialists who have moved their plants to Europe where they have cheaper labor and longer hours. Already Mr. Ford has moved his tractor plant to Europe throwing thousands of American laboring men out of work. Other big concerns like the International Harvester Company, General Electric and the big packing plants, have transferred much of their manufacturing activities to foreign countries for the same reason that Mr. Ford did, and that has been one of the major contributing factors to our unemployment. These big interests were inspired in their opposition to the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill by their desire to manufacture abroad where they have cheaper labor, longer hours, and lower raw material, but at the same time they want to ship their products to this country to be sold in competition with similar products made here. This, of course, they cannot do if the industrial rates of our tariff bill are sufficiently high and it was for the purpose of keeping the industrial rates down that they put out their vicious propaganda against the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill.

"In the industrial east people have been told that the agricultural rates were too high, while out here we were told that the industrial rates were far beyond what they should be. As a matter of fact, the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill comes as near doing justice to every part of the country and to every interest, as it is humanly possible to do. Of course, I do not mean to say that it is a perfect bill, but under the flexible provision of the act the president has the power to raise or lower up to 50 per cent, any existing rate, and I am sure that he will use that power to adjust any inequitable rates that may now exist. "We in Minnesota have heard the bill denounced by the metropolitan press, by farm leaders and others. Let us see what justification there is for the charge that it is unfair to agriculture. The American Farm Bureau Federation, after an exhaustive study of the Hawley-Smoot tariff act finds that it is good for agriculture. Refusing to be lured into the roll of cat's paw for renegade American industrialists and self seeking politicians, the Washington office of this largest and most important of agricultural organizations has informed its members that the new act does accord to the farmer that tariff parity with industry which the republican party and a republican president had promised. In an analysis of the bill, the Farm Bureau Federation finds that the new bill increased agricultural rates from an average level of 23.37 per cent to a new level of 33.94 per cent, or an increase of 10.57 per cent, while the industrial rates are raised from an average of 37.35 per cent to 42.83 per cent, or an increase of 5.48 per cent. In the consideration of the tariff it will be well to remember that such agricultural products as butter, cheese and casein are classified as industrial because they are manufactured or processed. If these items were included in the agricultural schedule, where they rightfully belong, in analyzing the bill, the relative increase for agriculture would have been much greater."

As an example of the effectiveness of the tariff Congressman Knutson cited the case of butter with an average score of 92.
He said that butter on the New York market sold for an average of 39.62 cents in September while Danish butter was produced to sell for 29.97 in the Copenhagen market. He pointed out however that with a 14 cent tariff on butter the difference would be in favor of New York by 9.65 cents. He also mentioned numerous other products.

ROPER DECRIES SERIOUS OVER-EMPHASIS OF FOOTBALL

THREATENS TO KILL THE SPORT IN FIVE YEARS

GLENN COLLETT IN GRUELLING TITLE DEFENSE

ROPER COMPLETING LAST YEAR AS COACH OF TIGER FOOTBALL TEAM

ATTACKS PRESENT GAME ON PRACTICE METHODS, NIGHT GAMES, PUBLICITY

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—The serious over-emphasis of college football threatens to kill it as a sport in five years, according to Bill Roper, head coach at Princeton University.

Roper, who is completing his last year as coach of the Tiger football team, attacked the present game on three counts—spring and early fall practice, night games and too much publicity for individual players—in a talk with sports writers.

"The place of football in the university," Roper said, "is merely an important adjunct to the college curriculum."

"Baseball," he continued, "is on the down grade in colleges, and that is because of spring football practice. This early drill takes the boys away from all other spring athletics."

Roper termed night football "brutal and outrageous."

"In night football," Roper said, "the eye-strain upon the players is tremendous, and their whole program of attending classes in the morning, exercising in the afternoon, and then studying at night is revolutionized."

Los Angeles Country Club, Los Angeles, Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—Emerging from two gruelling rounds in defense of her national golf title, Miss Glenna Collett entered the quarter-finals today matched against Miss Peggy Wattles, a fellow New Yorker and her strongest opponent in the tournament.

The title-holder was hard pressed in the second round by Miss Helen Lawson, young Los Angeles player, but drew away rapidly after rounding the turn and ended the match on the 15th, 5 and 3. The turning point came at the 11th green, where Miss Collett laid a perfect stymie and Miss Lawson's putt dropped the champion's ball in the cup for an eagle two.

Miss Wattles, who defeated Mrs. Harley Higbie of Detroit, 3 and 2, in the second round, has played consistently good golf throughout and was expected to prove a sterling contestant for championship honors.

Another feature match today was to be between Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, medalist of the tournament, and Miss Maureen Orcutt, the Englewood, N. J., star. Mrs. Hill defeated Mrs. Brent Potter, San Jose, Calif., 4 and 3, and Miss Orcutt won from Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia, three times national champion, 2 and 1.

Mrs. Leona Pressler of San Gabriel,

Calif., the west's leading entrant, will meet Helen Hicks, young New York star. Mrs. Pressler won from Miss Hermine Woecker, Burlingame, Calif., 5 and 4, while Miss Hicks defeated Miss Barbara Lee of Oakland, Calif., 8 and 7.

Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, won her way to the quarter-finals by defeating a former national champion, Marion Hollins of Santa Cruz, Calif., 3 and 2. Miss Van Wie will meet Mrs. Roy Green of Los Angeles, who defeated Mrs. Gregg Lufur, Los Angeles, 6 and 4, in the second round.

JUDGE STEFFEN, COURT FIVE DAYS, COACH TWO DAYS

PRESIDES OVER CHICAGO SUPERIOR COURT HEARING INJURY SUITS

IS ALSO COACH OF THE CARNEGIE TECH FOOTBALL TEAM

By GEORGE KIRKSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent) Chicago, Oct. 16.—Court convened as usual today for Judge Walter P. Steffen, but it wasn't law or lawsuits that occupied his mind.

The judge's main concern was whether Latham Flanagan, Carnegie Tech's great end, would catch one of those long passes from Quarterback Harry McCurdy against Notre Dame at South Bend Saturday—or thoughts to that effect.

Five days a week Steffen is a judge in a Chicago Superior court, hearing personal injury suits and such. The other two days he's coach of the Carnegie Tech football team which invades South Bend this week hopeful of inflicting the second defeat in 25 years on a Notre Dame eleven playing at home.

Carnegie Tech conquered the Irish, 27-7, on Cartier Field in 1928 and Judge Steffen confided to the United Press today that he had a team good enough to turn the trick again—"If they have one of their good days."

"Rockne has a great team," said Steffen, "but I have a good team capable of winning and we are not going to South Bend to lose."

Asked what kind of a game he planned to have his eleven play against Notre Dame, Steffen replied:

"That depends on Rockne. I am waiting to see what he does. I don't even know whether I will start my 'A' or 'B' team. If Rockne starts his shock troops I'll send in my 'B' team, and then the minute he sends in his regulars I will send in mine. There's really not much difference in the strength of my first two teams."

A suggestion that Southern Methodist uncovered Notre Dame's weakness against a good passing attack caused Steffen to smile.

"Well, we can pass, too."

"Are you going to?"

"We may have to make good Rockne's amusing boasts that Notre Dame will lose by eight touchdowns. First he had it three. It looks like Notre Dame is getting better and I know they'll be plenty tough no matter how bad they are."

Steffen will leave tomorrow for Elkhart, Ind., where he will join the Carnegie Tech squad tomorrow afternoon. The Tartans will practice on the high school field at Elkhart tomorrow, and remain there until time to start for South Bend, 15 miles away just in time to get a few minutes' practice before starting the game.

TOM KIRBY, BOSTON HEAVYWEIGHT, HAS RUN OF TROUBLE

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—Tom Kirby, Boston heavyweight, has been knocked out, suffered a dislocated vertebra and been operated on for appendicitis all in less than 24 hours.

He was knocked out in the second round by King Levinsky of Chicago Tuesday night, and later collapsed in his dressing room. An examination revealed a dislocated vertebra and he was sent to a hospital where the bone was snapped back into place.

He was back in the hospital yesterday morning with an acute attack of appendicitis and had to be operated on.

Interest reached a peak today in the Brainerd-Aitkin clash at the municipal field tomorrow afternoon and at 3:30 o'clock the sidelines will be crowded with hundreds of Brainerd fans who will cheer their team to victory.

Coach Dammann has instructed his B. H. S. gridgers in a snappy offense which will likely be brought into play immediately at the outset of the battle with the hope of putting over a touchdown in the first quarter.

The team is in good condition and will find practically the same line-up as last week when the team trounced Staples, 20 to 0.

ROPER DECRIES SERIOUS OVER-EMPHASIS OF FOOTBALL

THREATENS TO KILL THE SPORT IN FIVE YEARS

ROPER COMPLETING LAST YEAR AS COACH OF TIGER FOOTBALL TEAM

ATTACKS PRESENT GAME ON PRACTICE METHODS, NIGHT GAMES, PUBLICITY

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 16.—(U.P.)—The serious over-emphasis of college football threatens to kill it as a sport in five years, according to Bill Roper, head coach at Princeton University.

Roper, who is completing his last year as coach of the Tiger football team, attacked the present game on three counts — spring and early fall practice, night games and too much publicity for individual players—in a talk with sports writers.

"The place of football in the university," Roper said, "is merely an important adjunct to the college curriculum."

"Baseball," he continued, "is on the down grade in colleges, and that is because of spring football practice. This early drill takes the boys away from all other spring athletics."

Roper termed night football "brutal and outrageous."

"In night football," Roper said, "the eye-strain upon the players is tremendous, and their whole program of attending classes in the morning, exercising in the afternoon, and then studying at night is revolutionized."

FOOTBALL NOTES

(By United Press)
Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 16.—Coach Pat Page and his Indiana squad of 27 players were to leave late today for Minneapolis, where they meet Minnesota Saturday. Hot weather has kept the Hoosiers from engaging in lengthy practice this week and yesterday's final drill was limited to signal work. All of the injured stars are back in uniform but Dauer, Edmonds and Saluski who may not start Saturday.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 16.—Although both teams boast strong running attacks, Saturday's game between Wisconsin and Pennsylvania is expected to develop into a passing contest.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 16.—Minnesota's football squad will hold its final scrimmage practice today for Saturday's Big Ten opener with Indiana. Rain slowed up yesterday's drill.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Although injuries have forced Coach Stagg to make numerous changes in his line-up, Chicago supporters today expressed confidence that Stagg's "flanker pass" offense would enable the Maroons to defeat Florida Saturday.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 16.—The goddess of luck apparently has been appeased by the destroying of Captain Hank Eruder's "No. 13" Jersey and Northwestern football players today regained hope of victory over Illinois Saturday. The "jinx number" Jersey was burned by the squad yesterday.

Vic Hanson was first All-American end at Syracuse in 1926, the year after Oberlander attained a like honor as a back. Vic is now head coach at his alma mater, which is facing its first big test against Pittsburgh Saturday. Syracuse has a hefty, powerful squad. A definite line on its class will be gleaned on its home grid when the Orange and the Pitt Panthers tear into each other.

And—don't be too sure that Jock Sutherland's machine will smash those Hanson-coached huskies. For there's power plus at Syracuse this season.

CHIEF REVIEWS

FIRE DEPARTMENT

Frank W. Fuller Explains to Lions Club Operations of Volunteer Men

URGES FIRE PREVENTION

Reports on Number of Fires, Loss, Costs of Maintenance and Methods in Fighting

Frank W. Fuller, chief of Brainerd's Fire Department gave a comprehensive report on the department, its operation and work being done to stamp out fire hazards, also fire costs, etc., in an address at the Lions club dinner meeting last evening at the Ransford hotel.

He spoke in part as follows: "Inspections of buildings before fires often save more property and more lives, including the lives of public firemen, than the apparatus and water supply provided by cities for fighting fires. Sacrifice of life among public firemen in discharge of their duty is unnecessary and un-American. Fighting fires is a voluntary occupation, but it is also true that any fire that is not extinguished can destroy a city, make the citizens homeless and deprive the citizens of their customary means of earning their living.

"Poor and rich alike suffered in San Francisco, Calif., in April 1906. American cities will always need the best public fire departments and the best public water supplies, because of the great numbers of combustible buildings in them. Buildings of stone and iron are deceiving—they are easily destroyed by fire.

"The most highly improved and protected industrial plants have fires regularly, and any breaking down of the care that must be taken of the safeguards provided against fire, is fatal. The best guide to what may happen in American cities is the lesson of the general conflagrations that have destroyed hundreds of buildings as the result of one fire.

"Inspecting buildings before fires have a chance to start, and getting owners and tenants to co-operate in preventing fires by removing hazardous conditions, are the two great safeguards against unnecessary loss of life and property by fire. Fire fighting may be a 'voluntary' occupation but this country can never get along without its public firemen, who give up much of the home life enjoyed by other citizens, on to mention the risks they take of losing their own lives in trying to save the property and lives of others, any fire not extinguished can destroy a city.

"As to the fire hazards we have the gasoline hazard which is on the increase, and people are becoming so accustomed to its use that they are becoming more careless in handling it, also the use of fuel oil for heating purposes is becoming more general, then we have the ever present hazard from electric wiring improperly installed, or allowed to become defective through age or abuse. Then we have the hazard of dry cleaning plants, (by this I do not mean the commercial cleaning plant, because they are installed and are at all times under the supervision of the city and state and every precaution is taken to safeguard them.) I refer to the home cleaning plant where the women procure a quantity of cleaners naphtha and do their own dry cleaning, thereby endangering their own as well as other peoples lives and property.

"Then we have the ever present danger from smokes, a cigar, cigarette, match or the hot contents of a pipe may be laid down or carelessly thrown away, thereby endangering the lives of our citizens as well as their property, if you will cultivate the habit of breaking your match before throwing it away, and stepping on the cigar or cigarette rather than leave them burn you will greatly lessen this hazard which is proven to cause a loss of over $43,000 a day.

"As to your fire department, this department receives a great deal of comment both favorable and unfavorable, and I feel that a great deal of the unfavorable is due to the fact that the average citizen is uninformed as to our fire department.

"This department is composed of 34 men. Three drivers and the chief are on regular salary and the remaining 50 are call or volunteer men. Too much cannot be said for the call or volunteer department. These men are not picked at random but are proposed and if accepted are placed on probation for a period of one year, and are under the observation of a secret committee of eight regular men, who are known only to the chief of the department. There are times when it may seem that the volunteer men are excited and not working to the best advantage, but it is well to remember that at fire fighting is not their regular occupation, and they are working under high pressure. At fires it is quite common to hear comment on the fact that we do not put out more lines of hose and put the fire out quicker. At these times it is well to remember that we are working with the knowledge that on the majority of fires, water constitutes 75 per cent of the loss, and it is our duty to prevent water as well as fire loss.

From Sept. 1, 1929, to May 1, 1930, your fire department answered 72 alarms at a cost to the city of $1,164 for volunteer men. These alarms or fires involved property with an insurance value of $231,000 and the insurance loss was kept down to $21,900. This was done by men who are regularly engaged at other occupations, but who are ready winter or summer, day or night, rain or shine to protect you and your property from destruction by fire.

"The fire alarm system is operated in connection with the telephone and the only thing necessary to give an alarm of fire is to tell the telephone operator there is a fire and give the location of same and she in turn transmits it over apparatus which is connected with the firemen's telephones, this whole operation usually taking less than one minute. Fire departments are called upon to function in other emergencies than fire and this demand is growing, so we are training our men in first aid and other things we may have to use. In this line comes the cases of asphyxiation, calling for the administration of oxygen by artificial means, and so we may serve you in this emergency. George Sweet, manager of the Northern States Power Co. has very generously gave us access to an H. & I. oxygen inhalator so if you have any cases requiring the artificial administration of oxygen, or any other emergency requiring prompt action do not hesitate to call on us."

CHIEF REVIEWS FIRE DEPARTMENT

Frank W. Fuller Explains to Lions Club Operations of Volunteer Men

URGES FIRE PREVENTION

Reports on Number of Fires, Loss, Costs of Maintenance and Methods in Fighting

Frank W. Fuller, chief of Brainerd's Fire Department gave a comprehensive report on the department, its operation and work being done to stamp out fire hazards, also fire costs, etc., in an address at the Lions club dinner meeting last evening at the Ransford hotel.

He spoke in part as follows:

"Inspections of buildings before fires often save more property and more lives, including the lives of public firemen, than the apparatus and water supply provided by cities for fighting fires. Sacrifice of life among public firemen in discharge of their duty is unnecessary and un-American. Fighting fires is a voluntary occupation, but it is also true that any fire that is not extinguished can destroy a city, make the citizens homeless and deprive the citizens of their customary means of earning their living.

Poor and rich alike suffered in San Francisco, Calif., in April 1906. American cities will always need the best public fire departments and the best public water supplies, because of the great numbers of combustible buildings in them. Buildings of stone and iron are deceiving—they are easily destroyed by fire.

"The most highly improved and protected industrial plants have fires regularly, and any breaking down of the care that must be taken of the safeguards provided against fire, is fatal. The best guide to what may happen in American cities is the lesson of the general conflagrations that have destroyed hundreds of buildings as the result of one fire.

"Inspecting buildings before fires have a chance to start, and getting owners and tenants to co-operate in preventing fires by removing hazardous conditions, are the two great safeguards against unnecessary loss of life and property by fire. Fire fighting may be a 'voluntary' occupation but this country can never get along without its public firemen, who give up much of the home life enjoyed by other citizens, out to mention the risks they take of losing their own lives in trying to save the property and lives of others, any fire not extinguished can destroy a city.

"As to the fire hazards we have the gasoline hazard which is on the increase, and people are becoming so accustomed to its use that they are becoming more careless in handling it, also the use of fuel oil for heating purposes is becoming more general, then we have the ever present hazard from electric wiring improperly installed, or allowed to become defective through age or abuse. Then we have the hazard of dry cleaning plants, by this I do not mean the commercial cleaning plant, because they are installed and are at all times under the supervision of the city and state and every precaution is taken to safeguard them.) I refer to the home cleaning plant where the women procure a quantity of cleaners naphtha and do their own dry cleaning, thereby endangering their own as well as other peoples lives and property.

"Then we have the ever present danger from smokes, a cigar, cigarette, match or the hot contents of a pipe may be laid down or carelessly thrown away, thereby endangering the lives of our citizens as well as their property, if you will cultivate the habit of breaking your match before throwing it away, and stepping on the cigar or cigarette rather than leave them burn you will greatly lessen this hazard which is proven to cause a loss of over $43,000 a day.

"As to your fire department, this department receives a great deal of comment both favorable and unfavorable, and I feel that a great deal of the unfavorable is due to the fact that the average citizen is uninformed as to our fire department.

"This department is composed of 34 men. Three drivers and the chief are on regular salary and the remaining 50 are call or volunteer men. Too much cannot be said for the call or volunteer department. These men are not picked at random but are proposed and if accepted are placed on probation for a period of one year, and are under the observation of a secret committee of eight regular men, who are known only to the chief of the department. There are times when it may seem that the volunteer men are excited and not working to the best advantage, but it is well to remember that fire fighting is not their regular occupation, and they are working under high pressure. At fires it is quite common to hear comment on the fact that we do not put out more lines of hose and put the fire out quicker. At these times it is well to remember that we are working with the knowledge that on the majority of fires, water constitutes 75 per cent of the loss, and it is our duty to prevent water as well as fire loss. From Sept. 1, 1929, to May 1, 1930, your fire department answered 72 alarms at a cost to the city of $11,164 for volunteer men. These alarms or fires involved property with an insurance value of $231,000 and the insurance loss was kept down to $21,900. This was done by men who are regularly engaged at other occupations but who are ready winter or summer, day or night, rain or shine to protect you and your property from destruction by fire.

"The fire alarm system is operated in connection with the telephone and the only thing necessary to give an alarm of fire is to tell the telephone operator there is a fire and give the location of same and she in turn transmits it over apparatus which is connected with the firemen's telephones, this whole operation usually taking less than one minute. Fire departments are called upon to function in other emergencies than fire and this demand is growing, so we are training our men in first aid and other things we may have to use. In this line comes the cases of asphyxiation, calling for the administration of oxygen by artificial means, and so we may serve you in this emergency. George Sweet, manager of the Northern States Power Co. has very generously gave us access to an H. & I. oxygen inhalator so if you have any cases requiring the artificial administration of oxygen, or any other emergency requiring prompt action do not hesitate to call on us."

BRINGS ASHES OF MOTHER

Mrs. S. L. Bean of Los Angeles, Calif., to be Buried Beside Her Husband

Will Bean has arrived in the city from Los Angeles, Calif., bringing the ashes of his mother here for burial beside those of her husband, S. L. Bean. Mrs. Bean passed away last winter at Los Angeles. They are former Brainerd residents, Mrs. Bean for many years being shop superintendent of the Northern Pacific shops.

New Lamps For City Hall

New ornamental lamps have been installed by the city water and light department at the entrance to the city hall. They are similar to those in use on street light posts and generally improve the appearance of the city hall, particularly at night.

"This Brainerd man is aware of the values to be had right here in town."

—says Peterson.

THE SCENE NOW SHIFTS FROM
GREENFIELD, MO., TO
KANSAS CITY

BELIEVED KIDNAPER OF MRS.
ALMA MCKINLEY MAY HAVE TAKEN FRED BENSKIN

Greenfield, Mo., Oct. 16.—(AP)—The search for the swarthy abductor of Mrs. Alma McKinley shifted to Kansas City today as growing fears were felt that he may also have kidnaped Fred Benskin, Cedar county assessor. Benskin was last seen leaving Jericho Springs for Greenfield late Tuesday night and his automobile was found hidden in a clump of trees near the spot where Mrs. McKinley, an expectant mother, was released after the kidnaper had held her prisoner for 16 hours.

Several posses which had been searching throughout this section of the state for the kidnaper abandoned the search late yesterday after Mrs. Benton Wilson, mother of Mrs. McKinley, identified pictures of a Kansas City gangster as the man who entered her farm home Monday night and forced Mrs. McKinley to leave with him, releasing her later after she promised to obtain $10,000 ransom money for him.

Mrs. McKinley was unable definitely to identify the man by the pictures, but the belief that he was the abductor was strengthened when a posse found a suitcase which the young woman said her kidnaper had carried.

of 48 candidates in the field, chiefly in New York where 24 socialists seek seats in congress, and in Pennsylvania where there are nine socialist candidates. The others are scattered among Wisconsin, Montana, Michigan, Oregon, Missouri, Texas and Utah.

As far as congress is concerned, the old prohibition party seems to have disappeared. Only in Pennsylvania where it has candidates in two districts, does the party appear on the congressional ballot.

There are independents running for congress in two districts of Virginia; one Tennessee district where the independent is the leader of a republican faction defeated in the primary; two in South Dakota; and one in Missouri.

The labor party shows up with three candidates in Pennsylvania while in Missouri the social-labor party has three.

Communists appear under that name in only Pennsylvania, Montana and North Carolina while the workers' party has candidates in four Michigan districts.

The farmer-labor party, the only party outside of the democratic and republican parties which had members in the last congress, has nine candidates in Minnesota and one in Iowa.

In the last senate there were 56 republicans, 39 democrats, and one farmer-labor member. Of these 25 democrats, 35 republicans and the one farmer-laborer are hold-overs. One republican already has been elected from Maine and on November 4 the seats now held by 20 republicans and 24 democrats are to be filled.

In five states the democratic candidate is without opposition, Byrnes of South Carolina, Harris of Georgia, Long of Louisiana, Harrison of Mississippi and Robinson of Arkansas having won their seats at the primaries. In Virginia, Carter Glass is opposed by one independent and one socialist but he is conceded victory, making six certain democratic seats. They must win eight more to retain the strength the party had in the last congress and 18 additional if they are to have a majority.

The republicans, with one senator, White of Maine, already elected, need win in only 13 of the remaining senatorial contests to have a nominal majority.

My Friends: Correct Your Eating
Faults and Lose Your Fat
With Kruschen Salts

Yes, I'm forty-five today—built like a race horse, my friends say—and I know I feel 10 years younger than I did three months ago—and I'd hate to tell you how much fat I lost with Kruschen.

I call Kruschen Salts the "magic salts" because when I was fat and wretched, despondent and half sick all the time—it took only one bottle to I bought for 85 cents at Johnson's Pharmacy or Economy Drug Co.—to liven me up—put ambition and energy into me—make me feel year younger and with the help of a change in diet show me how to lose the fat I was so ashamed of.

Every drug store worthy of the name in the World sells Kruschen Salts—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—not much to pay for buoyant health.

THE SCENE NOW SHIFTS FROM
GREENFIELD, MO., TO
KANSAS CITY

BELIEVED KIDNAPER OF MRS.
ALMA MCKINLEY MAY HAVE TAKEN FRED BENSKIN

Greenfield, Mo., Oct. 16.—(AP)—The search for the swarthy abductor of Mrs. Alma McKinley shifted to Kansas City today as growing fears were felt that he may also have kidnaped Fred Benskin, Cedar county assessor. Benskin was last seen leaving Jericho Springs for Greenfield late Tuesday night and his automobile was found hidden in a clump of trees near the spot where Mrs. McKinley, an expectant mother, was released after the kidnaper had held her prisoner for 16 hours.

Several posses which had been searching throughout this section of the state for the kidnaper abandoned the search late yesterday after Mrs. Benton Wilson, mother of Mrs. McKinley, identified pictures of a Kansas City gangster as the man who entered her farm home Monday night and forced Mrs. McKinley to leave with him, releasing her later after she promised to obtain $10,000 ransom money for him.

Mrs. McKinley was unable definitely to identify the man by the pictures, but the belief that he was the abductor was strengthened when a posse found a suitcase which the young woman said her kidnaper had carried.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY GOES INTO ELECTION WITH 81 SEATS IN THE HOUSE, 5 IN SENATE ASSURED

of 48 candidates in the field, chiefly in New York where 24 socialists seek seats in congress, and in Pennsylvania where there are nine socialist candidates. The others are scattered among Wisconsin, Montana, Michigan, Oregon, Missouri, Texas and Utah.

As far as congress is concerned, the old prohibition party seems to have disappeared. Only in Pennsylvania where it has candidates in two districts, does the party appear on the congressional ballot.

There are independents running for congress in two districts of Virginia; one Tennessee district where the independent is the leader of a republican faction defeated in the primary; two in South Dakota; and one in Missouri. The labor party shows up with three candidates in Pennsylvania while in Missouri the social-labor party has three.

Communists appear under that name in only Pennsylvania, Montana and North Carolina while the "workers" party has candidates in four Michigan districts.

The farmer-labor party, the only party outside of the democratic and republican parties which had members in the last congress, has nine candidates in Minnesota and one in Iowa.

In the last senate there were 56 republicans, 39 democrats, and one farmer-labor member. Of these 25 democrats, 35 republicans and the one farmer-laborer are hold-overs. One republican already has been elected from Maine and on November 4 the seats now held by 20 republicans and 24 democrats are to be filled.

In five states the democratic candidate is without opposition, Byrnes of South Carolina, Harbo of Georgia, Long of Louisiana, Harrison of Mississippi and Robinson of Arkansas having won their seats at the primaries. In Virginia, Carter Glass is opposed by one independent and one socialist but he is conceded victory, making six certain democratic seats. They must win eight more to retain the strength the party had in the last congress and 18 additional if they are to have a majority.

The republicans, with one senator, White of Maine, already elected, need win in only 13 of the remaining senatorial contests to have a nominal majority.

My Friends: Correct Your Eating
Faults and Lose Your Fat
With Kruschen Salts

Yes, I'm forty-five today—built like a race horse, my friends say—and I know I feel 10 years younger than I did three months ago—and I'd hate to tell you how much fat I lost with Kruschen.

I call Kruschen Salts the "magic salts" because when I was fat and wretched, despondent and half sick all the time—it took only one bottle that I bought for 85 cents at Johnson's Pharmacy or Economy Drug Co.—to live me up—put ambition and energy into me—make me feel year younger and with the help of a change in diet show me how to lose the fat I was so ashamed of.

Cut out pastries and desserts—go easy on potatoes, cream, cheese, and butter—eat lean meat, chicken, fish, vegetables and fruits and never fail to take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

Every drug store worthy of the name in the World sells Kruschen Salts—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—not much to pay for buoyant health.
